Pentecost

Fifty Days to A New Age

Saint Luke tells us that Jesus remained with his disciples for approximately forty days after the resurrection (Acts 1:3). Jesus spent that time reminding them of the scriptural testimonies that spoke of his death and resurrection (Luke 24:35ff) as well as continuing his teaching concerning the kingdom of God (Acts 1:3). Just prior to his formal departure into heaven, he commanded his disciples to remain in Jerusalem. Jesus' imperative was linked to the future reception of the "promise of the Father" (Acts 1:4).

Ten days later, on the Jewish agricultural feast of Pentecost (Pentecost means "fifty days") Jesus' promise of the Father erupted as a powerful theophany of the Holy Spirit. Saint Luke's description of the Holy Spirit's advent among the disciples carried the description of ancient Israel's experience of God on Mount Sinai (Exodus 19:16-19). Luke describes the event as a noise that came from the sky like a loud wind and tongues as of fire which parted on each disciple.

The experience caught up the disciples as well. Luke tells us that each one talked in a different tongue which was interpreted by the uninitiated as praises to God in distinctive languages. The experience was so powerful that Saint Peter interpreted the event as a sign of the end times to the public masses that were drawn by the commotion (Acts 2:17-21).

What is the meaning of Pentecost? The universal answer is that Pentecost marks the beginning of the Church. It may be better to say that Pentecost marks the beginning of the Christian community to be authorized to continue the ministry of Jesus Christ. Jesus gifted the church with Holy Spirit that empowers the church in mission and authority to continue Jesus' ministry even though Jesus is no longer physically present.

The key actor of Pentecost is the Holy Spirit, the third person of Trinity. Saint John, written several years after Luke-Acts articulates a clearer position concerning the ministry of the Holy Spirit and Jesus. In John 14, the evangelist teaches us that Jesus is sending the Holy Spirit to the Christian community to serve as Jesus' presence in the world after Jesus' physical departure.

Three times Jesus attempts to reassure his disciples that his departure will not leave them alone. First, Jesus' discourse in Chapter 14 begins with the statement: "do not let your hearts be troubled..." (John 14:1). He comforts the disciples a second time with the reassurance he will not "leave them orphans" (John 14:18). Finally, in the discourse he closes his remarks with the blessing of assurance: "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give to you. Do not let your hearts be troubled or afraid" (John 14:27).

Interspersed with these words of assurance is Jesus' teaching concerning the purpose of the Holy Spirit's relationship with the church. Jesus tells his students that he is another Paraclete. The term Paraclete can be translated as Comforter (the old meaning of the term of helping someone to be brave), Counselor or Advocate. The late William Barclay pointed out that the term means "someone who is called in" as someone who called in to testify on someone's behalf in legal case or an expert brought in to deal with a serious situation.

The kicker is that Jesus was sending another Paraclete. This implies that Jesus was the first Paraclete. Jesus comments links the Holy Spirit and Jesus together in the same mission. Jesus teaching on this point is a concrete affirmation that he would not leave them orphaned. While we may think of orphan in the sense of child that is left without parents, in Judaism and Greek cultures it was often used to describe a group of disciples after they had lost their rabbi or teacher.

Jesus' linkage with the Holy Spirit as a continuation of his presence is born out in Jesus' comments concerning the work of the Holy Spirit in the life of the church.

“he will teach you everything and remind you of all that I told you.”

“he will convict the world in regard to sin and righteousness and condemnation”

“he will guide you in all truth”

“He will speak what he hears, and will declare to you the things that are coming”

“he will glorify me (Jesus), because he will take from what is mine and declare it to you”

Pentecost reminds us that we are not orphans. Jesus' departure did not conclude Jesus' presence among us. The arrival of the Holy Spirit empowered the church to mission. The arrival of the Holy Spirit connects us directly with the living Jesus who still is teaching, guiding and leading our ministry to the world. ~ Pastor Bart

Mark your calendars for the UMW Bazaar! Saturday, October 14th!

Martha Joyal is hanging up her cooking apron. She will no longer be making jams and jellies for the October Bazaar. She has supplies that she would be happy to give to someone if they are interested. Or if you wish to learn how to do it, she would also be happy to teach you. Call her at 787-7849.

I would like to thank all of my Market Street friends for their prayers on my behalf, for those who have sent lovely cards, made delicious food and made calls of inquiry. All of your concern and effort are very much appreciated and make the road to recovery seem not so lonely or difficult. I miss everyone and hope to rejoin you in the not-too-distant future. Una Familia

Once upon a time there was a large immigrant community on The Eastern Shore. Every day they struggled to adapt to a new culture: working very hard at low paying jobs, not speaking English, children failing in local schools, living in squalor.

One day a high school Latina began tutoring 5 elementary children in her community.

Because of that, more children requested tutoring, volunteers came forward, relationships were built with schools, and churches became host sites. Because of that, additional family needs were identified.

Until finally, from one seed, a large tree is bearing fruit: children are succeeding academically, families have advocates, and will soon have adequate, safe housing.

Thank you Market Street UMC for hosting Una Familia in your church and for volunteering to tutor the children. We will see you again in September!

VBS dates are July 31-August 4. 9 am—12:30 pm, ages 4 years old—7th grade Naomi Makemie Presbyterian Church, Holy Trinity Episcopal Church and Market Street UMC combined effort.

MISSION MADNESS: Having Hearts to Change the World. We are looking forward to learning how we can have the heart of God to let the world know that Jesus loves them. We will learn about the ways we can be a helper for God in our own backyard. Real mission activities, Bible stories, music, recreation, crafts, and a whole lot of fun.

Shingle Siding for our Market Street Church

Fund raising quarterly dinners are in the works. The first dinner will be held on Saturday, June 24th, from 5 pm—7 pm in the Social Hall. Sponsored by Market Street's UMM and UMW, the menu will feature oven fried chicken, potato salad, green beans, rolls, desserts and beverage. Cost per person is $8, eat in or take out. Reservations will be required, and the reservation form will be appearing in the announcements in June—or you can call the church office at 787-4873.

Market Street United Methodist Church Foundation, Inc.

WHAT IS THE FOUNDATION? On May 1, 2000, our Charge conference authorized the beginning of our foundation. The FOUNDATION is a separate entity that encourages and facilitates gifts for the future long term benefits of our Church.

HOW DOES IT DO THIS? The principle deposits that are made into this account NEVER come out. Rather, the future interest and growth of the account may come out for the benefit of the church according to the wishes of the Church Council. Our current balance is $217,000. The by-laws of the foundation indicate that money can be used only for facility maintenance, care, and improvements or Mission—$22,000 of growth from the Foundation has already come out to assist with our new roof!

WHY SHOULD I CONSIDER A GIFT? A Gift to the foundation, over and above regular annual budget giving, creates a timeless legacy. This giving makes a testament to our Christian faith and values. Our Gifts will provide lasting benefits to Market Street United Methodist Church.

WHAT TYPE OF GIFTS CAN I MAKE? If you wish to create a lasting legacy for our church and its ministries, you can make a bequest in your will for a specific amount. You may also gift today! Cash, stocks, and bonds are welcome! (You may wish to consult a tax professional or attorney).

FOR MORE INFORMATION. Paul Bowers is our Foundation President, Please feel free to ask him about how you can make a difference. 757-787-9207 or paul.bowers@vafb.com.

All God's Children Camp 2017 is Gearing Up

There is a major need for mentors for All God's Children Camp for our Camp Overlook week, June 25-30. Please share this with anyone who might be interested and please consider giving a week of your time for some awesome kids. Please email Lori Smith at lttlelori@gmail.com for more information.

There are many ways you can volunteer for camp and we definitely need all the help we can get. Below are ways you can get involved. Please contact Lori Smith at lttlelori@gmail.com or by phone, 571-245-9591 if you would like more information.

Sign up to become a mentor. It will change your life! There is nothing like spending a week in the outdoors with some awesome kids who just want to be loved on: July 30-August 4, Camp OOTB. Provide supplies for our campers. All the supplies that are donated get to go home with the campers. These include bed sheets, pillows, toiletries, blankets and other goodies. Please contact Lori for a full list of supplies.

Sign up to drive campers to camp. This is a big need! Most of our campers are unable to provide their own transportation for various reasons. So about 90% of them will need a ride to and from camp.

UMC Bishops Call Special Session of General Conference for 2019 Council of Bishops The United Methodist Church

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE, April 24, 2017

Washington, D.C.: The Council of Bishops (COB) has called a Special Session of the General Conference of The United Methodist Church (UMC) to be held February 23-26, 2019 in St. Louis, Missouri, USA.

In announcing the call, COB President Bishop Bruce R. Ough said the Special Session will be held in accordance with Division Two – Section II – Article II of The Constitution of The United Methodist Church as recorded in Paragraph 14 of The Book of Discipline (2016).

The purpose of the 2019 Special Session of the General Conference will be “limited to receiving and acting on a report from the Council of Bishops based on the recommendations of the Commission on a Way Forward.”

The 32-member Commission was appointed by the Council of Bishops to assist the bishops in their charge to lead the church forward amid the impasse related to homosexuality. The Commission’s task includes examining paragraphs in The Book of Discipline concerning human sexuality and exploring options to strengthen the unity of the church.

Per the Constitution of the Church, the 2019 Special Session of the General Conference shall be composed of the delegates to the 2016 General Conference or their legal successors or alternates, except when a particular annual conference or missionary conference shall prefer to have a new election.

The Secretary of the General Conference will communicate with annual conference secretaries regarding updated delegate information, seating of reserve delegates, and the issuance of new certificates of election for annual conferences choosing to hold new elections.

The Commission on the General Conference and the Business Manager of the General Conference will develop and forward additional information regarding the logistics of the special session of General Conference at the appropriate time.

“The Council of Bishops encourages the entire church to continue in deep, unceasing prayer for Holy Spirit breakthroughs for the Commission on a Way Forward and the Special Session of General Conference,” Bishop Ough said.

Don't Miss These Events!

On August 21 a total solar eclipse will cross the continental United States from coast-to-coast. Join the NASA Wallops Flight Facility Visitor Center to view the eclipse safely with special eclipse glasses.

Though not on the path of totality, observers on the Eastern Shore will see 81.5 % partial eclipse. The maximum eclipse will occur when the moon covers part of the sun's disk from this location at approximately 2:46 p.m.

As an official NASA viewing location, Wallops Visitor Center will participate in the Eclipse megacast that will provide unique broadcast coverage. This live stream will ensure event participants a view of the Total Solar Eclipse in the instance that clouds block the solar viewing on the Eastern Shore. The event will also feature solar-themed movies, activities and crafts.

In addition to the main event at the NASA Wallops Flight Facility Visitor Center, there will also be resources at two additional satellite locations on Assateague Island National Seashore. At these satellite locations, Toms Cove Visitor Center VA and Assateague Visitor Center MD, limited quantities of eclipse glasses and resource will be available for those who do not want to leave the beach.

The event is funded in part through the 2015 Competitive Program for Science Museums, Planetariums, and NASA Visitor Centers (CP4SMPVC+). Space and supplies are limited at all locations.

Making Assumptions

A policeman was heading home after a long, hard day on patrol. He had dealt with a whole succession of difficult people, and a mountain of frustrating paperwork. All he wanted at this point was to kick back, unwind, enjoy some peace and quiet, and maybe watch a few innings of baseball on TV.

But, as he neared home, he was startled by a vehicle that came careening around a sharp curve and narrowly missed his squad car. As the car passed within a few inches of him, the other driver shouted "Pig!"

The police officer was suddenly energized. He slammed on brakes, all set to turn his squad car around and head off in hot pursuit. But as he rounded the curve, ... he ran head-on into a large pig that was standing in the middle of the road!

It's a lesson we learn early in life if we're lucky: don't assume! No matter how confident we are in our understanding of the issue. No matter how certain of another's reasoning or motives. No matter how obvious the point may be to us. Effective communication is far more complicated and difficult than we think. With barriers like cultural differences, personal "filters," different definitions, etc., it's amazing that any of us ever understand one another. But these aren't the most difficult obstacles. The biggest reason we aren't able to hear what another is saying to us is simply... "fear!"

Oh, we may camouflage it behind anger, self-importance or any number of other false fronts, but at the root is fear. Fear of being "found out," or of being disappointed, or of not getting what we want. It's a powerful if crippling motivator. And most of us can summon up plenty of reasons why we shouldn't take another at face value. Honest communication requires trust, and taking a risk. And we've been burned too many times. So we settle for safety, make the natural assumption, and run head-on into our own version of that pig as we journey down life's highway!

There is a better way. A way that recognizes our similarities. That sees others as a source of community and healing. That looks past our own frustration and previous disappointments to explore the possibility that even a "stranger" may have something positive to say. The Apostle Paul described it in Corinthians, chapter 13. It's the "higher way" of love. I almost hesitate to use that term these days because of the way our culture misuses it. But when you read Paul's description, try substituting "maturity." It's a perfect fit. The risks are higher for this way of living, but so are the rewards.
